ATTELL AND MORAN UNABLE TO AGREE

Decisive Battle Between English and American Featherweights Unlikely.

FIGHTERS ARE WELL PAID

SAN FRANCISCO, January 3.—The prospects for a return match between Abe Attell, of this city, and Owen Moran, of London, England, are not overbright. Attell says if ever there is another meeting the weight arrangements must be the same as in the New Year's Day contest. Moran says he will never fight at that weight again. The sports have recalled that Moran was really overweight when he weighed in with Frankie Neil. The notch at that time was 122 pounds a few hours before the contest. When Moran stepped on the scales the beam lifted in such a way that it was palpable ho was several ounces overweight.

pable he was several ounces overweight.

"That's all right," said Pop Neil, who was watching the weighing in, and many wondered that Frankle, Neil's father did not raise a rumpus and claim the English lad's forfelt.

It is quite possible that Moran had difficulty in making 122 pounds for Neil, just as he had in making 120 for Attell on New Year's Day. He can fight at 122 and do himself justice, but he would probably be at his best at 125 pounds. He is, not likely, however, tr sign up at 129 pounds again, and as Attell has a wondrous respect for the little Britisher after Wednesday's showing, Promoter Coffrict will have a hard time of it bringing about another match.

Attell said after the contest that he,

"The Neils have been hounding me and eaying that I am afraid to meet Frankle," said Abe. "No matter who else defeats him, I want to settle the question so as to stop all further talk." Charley Harvey, manager of Owen Moran, is quite willing to do his part toward making a return match, but Institute that the weight be 122 pounds three hours before the meet. Attell made the biggest money winning of his long career Wednesday—§5:200 for his afternoon's work. Moran won the same amount, the receipts being approximately $14,600, of which the fighters got 60 per cent and split svenly.

to confirm statements made earlier in the day, finally admitted that Strong had wired him about the challengs. If the count accepts, the duel will take place in June, somewhere along the sunny shores of France. All Strong desires in the event of victory is the glory; if the count is vanquished, and not too badly riddled with builtes or buckshot, he is to come to this country and join a theatrical company which Strong will produce on Broadway. Should he be too badly crippied to act, the lease may be transferred to Forepaugh & Sells, At any rate, Strong is willing to offer himself as a living sacrifice or else get de Castellane out of the way for all time or behind the footlights for a fleeting period.

"Strong ought to have an answer to his cable by the time he arrivos here next Friday," said Mr. Nolan, "The Joke, however, would be on him if the count should happen to shoot out his lights."
